HEALTH CARE REFORM is too important to make it a tool to promote and expand abortion. With all the plans and amendments in discussion, and questions about whether they do or do not promote and expand abortion, it is clear what’s needed: Amend any health care reform bill to explicitly ban use of government money for elective abortions. The Hyde Amendment, passed in 1976, and law in the United States for a generation, has worked. In fact and in spirit, it should be part of any health reform legislation now. Please tell your U.S. Senator and Representative this now!
